The QE Index after witnessing three consecutive days of decline finally managed to rebound yesterday. The Index is showing a bounce back over the past few days, on the expectations of some relief on geopolitical tensions. Meanwhile, the Index sustained its gains throughout the day as buyers pushed the price higher. However, acceptance above 10,750 is required for a further push towards 10,815, until then it may consolidate. Support is near 10,570.

The QE Index gained for the second straight week and continued its rebound, on the back of news of temporarily easing of geopolitical tensions. Meanwhile, the Index after testing its weekly low near 10,150, bounced back sharply and reclaimed its 100-WMA currently near 10,570. However, the Index still needs to surpass its 200-WMA currently near 10,760, followed by 50-MWA near 10,880, to attract buying interest, until then it may consolidate or test 10,300.

The QE Index slid lower on the back of geopolitical tensions and news flow. The Index slipped below both its 50-MWA currently near 10,950, and 100-MWA 10,520 in a single swoop, indicating the pressure is likely to stay further, until the situation stabilizes. However, the index managed to protect its 200-MWA currently near 10,030, which is the only positive takeaways. On the higher side, any acceptance above 100-MWA can test its 50-MWA. However, any sustained weakness below its 200-MWA can drag it down to test 9,550.
